April 29, 2024

As we finish up April and round into May this week, most of you are gearing up for exams and finishing course projects. Students should know that everyone at the College is poised to support your academic progress!

Student Resources for Academics and More

As we approach exams, the Library on each campus provides spaces for study and collaboration and online chat support is available every day of the year. Tutoring and targeted assistance is available through the Learning Centers. Students who are also parents may be eligible for scholarships from Generation Hope, with applications closing on Wednesday. Students who are looking for jobs can keep an eye on recruitment events, career search tools, and internships posted on the student career and employment services site. Job searching strategies are available through the igniTe Hub. There is also a Mobile Market on the Rockville Campus this Wednesday.

Two Heritage Months in May

May is Jewish American Heritage Month, and the Library has developed an outstanding guide to finding books, streaming films, and local resources related to Jewish American heritage. May is also designated as Asian American and Native American Pacific Islander Heritage Month and has a special kickoff festival this Wednesday. A library guide provides helpful information and resources.

Supporting Students, Teaching, and the ECEC

Last weekend's Love of Teaching Conference was fantastic. Thank you to the faculty and staff who planned it and participated. The event offered an opportunity to deepen our passion for teaching through creativity and collaboration. I was so glad to see so many faculty participating. Speaking of support, "Dogfishing for Scholarships" takes place all day tomorrow at the Dogfish Head Alehouse restaurant in Gaithersburg, with 15% of sales going to scholarships for students. I hope to see you there. If you are curious about the College's new East Campus Education Center (ECEC), an exciting three-minute virtual tour is available.
